ABVP submits memorandum to UGC Chairman over admissions in the new session & other subjects

Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad has submitted a memorandum to the Chairman of University Grants Commission that pertains to various subjects like pending examinations in universities due to the second wave of the COVID-19, admission to the new academic session, and the possible resumption of higher education classes.

Recently, the CBSE Board decided on the evaluation methodology for Class 12 students, and all State Boards are to go ahead by adopting the same method. Keeping this in mind, ABVP in its memorandum has put forth suggestions of conducting offline/online entrance examination in the duration from last week of July to August, conducting undergraduate and postgraduate intermediate semester examinations as soon as possible, compulsorily conducting examinations of final year students based on the alternative combination of papers, resuming the new academic session for technical and traditional courses as per the circumstances and other issues.

National General Secretary of ABVP Nidhi Tripathi said, "The education sector has suffered a lot in the last two academic sessions owing to COVID-19 pandemic. The learning process has also been hampered due to the pandemic. We have submitted a detailed memorandum to the University Grants Commission emphasizing on various issues like starting the academic session of students on time. We hope that the University Grants Commission will soon take steps in the larger interest of the students."
